New $235,000 Friendly House Given 'Green Light'

Dreams of a new and modern $235,000 Friendly House ettlement are crystallizing. The Citizens Committee on Social Survey last night approved plans for the building and a campaign to raise $60,000—the agency's share in the cost.

Remainder of the expense will be borne by Mansfield manufacturers through the Richland Foundation, a charitable trust group. Request for approval of a public drive to raise the $60,000 during December will be placed before the Public Appeals Review board Monday.

A site for the new Friendly House was recently donated by Carl Sternbaum, 165 Vale avenue, as a memorial to his son, Lt. Jacob Sternbaum, who was killed in May, 1944, when his plane crashed in the Himalaya mountains in the India-Burma theater of war. It consists of three lots facing Mulberry street between Aten Way and Vale avenue, near the geographic center of Friendly House activity.

On the first floor, the new building will house a gymnasium, showers, an auditorium or canteen, office, meeting rooms, library, check room and club rooms.

The ground floor will contain club rooms, shop, game room, garage, and boiler room. On the second floor will be living quarters for the administrator and staff members, a dormitory, girls' lounge and social room, and nursery.

Approval of the Friendly House Project was the first step in "Operation Tomorrow," a long range program which envisions new or renovated quarters for the Salvation Army, YMCA, YWCA, and Girl Scouts as well as Friendly House. Total cost is expected to reach more than $800,000.

Recommended but not formally approved last night were lesser drives for the Salvation Army and Girl Scout camp early in 1947, and the erection of a large youth center to house the two Y's, the Girl Scout headquarters, and headquarters for the Boy Scouts if they desire to join the project.

Formal action on these recommendations will be taken later.

STRIKE FINES LOOM FOR MINERS

'PORTER STEPS OUT OF DYING PRICE AGENCY

resident's Announcement of Resignation Hints Merger of OPA, CPA Powers.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — erger of OPA and the Civiln Production Administraon moved a step nearer toay with the president's acptance of the resignation of PA Chief Paul Porter.

Even as it entered its final days an independent agency, the PA girded for a finish fight in deral district court over whether ill another of its scarce powers sugar rationing—may go by the ards.

The continuation of sugar conrols, a top official told a reporter, may be decided next Wednesday when a federal judge hears an attack on legality of rationing regulations brought by the Maple Leaf Dairies, Inc., of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Resignation of Porter, who succeeded Chester Bowles last February, was dated November 15 and effective December 4.

Signals Consolidation.

It was made public by the White ouse last night in a move taken s a signal for the consolidation hich had been talked over for veral weeks by top administraon advisers.

Presidential Press Secretary harles Ross told reporters the ction could be expected "in a few ays."

The new agency, its name as yet unannounced, would carry on controls deemed still necessary and proceed with gradual liquidation of OPA and CPA.

There also were reports it might ake in such other wartime emergncy offices as the Re-Employent and Retraining Administraon and the Office of Contract ettlement.

Some officials attributed the elay in effecting consolidation to he administration's inability to ecide on a boss for the new unit.

'MULE SHOPPERS CROWD STORES

The ranks of Christmas shoppers continued to swell today following a stimulated post-Thanksgiving rush to gift counters hroughout the downtown district esterday.

Retail merchants reported ounting enthusiasm for wearing pparel and other practical gifts s shoppers hurried to selections efore stocks are "picked over." nly three more Saturdays remain until Christmas.

Throngs, which crowded the treets yesterday as they made a tore-to-store tour of mercantile tores, overflowed into the city's ransportation system. packing uses already filled to near capacy with home-bound workers.

Sales on children's gifts were mong the most active, dealers aid, with neckwear for men, omen's lingerie and jewelry leading in the adult gift field.

STILL FREE OF MISHAPS

The Mansfield area observed he third day of a long Thanksiving weekend today with no leaths and no injuries reported rom highway or traffic accidents.

'Man Without Country' Visits College Friend

Native of Egypt Satisfied With Peculiar Lot If He Can Be 'International Citizen.'

By AL PREYER

A youth who desires to be "a man without a country, but with a world" is visiting Mrs. Josephine Rosen and her son, Dick, of 265 South Diamond street. He is Henry Emil Polkowski, 28, most recently of Ethiopia, a college mate of Dick's at Miami university, Oxford.

Born in Egypt, of Polish-Austrian parents, employed for a number of years by the Ethiopian government, now studying in the United States, and bearing on his travel papers the notation that he is "a citizen of undetermined origin," entitles him to claim "to be an international citizen," Polkowski said.

On the basis of my experiences so far in life, if I could remain without a passport, working for humanity in general, I should be content to die a man without a country, and be in my mind a citizen of the world," Polkowski exclaimed.

Then he proceeded to explain. "Today, with the world truly 'one world' by virtue of the technical progress that has made it shrink, men should learn to love the world more than individual countries. I believe that there should be no such thing as nationalities. As long as you have nationalities you will have wars.

* * *

Friends Urged U. S. Visit.

"My trip to the States was the result of the departure of some very close American friends who were working in Ethiopia," Polkowski explained. "They advised me to come to Miami.

"It was difficult to arrange because I had been five years without papers of any kind in Ethiopia, but with the help of the brother-in-law of the emperor of Ethiopia I managed to get a permit on condition, return to Ethiopia after my four years of study in America," Polkowski said.

At first, he didn't agree with the extremely free relations in public between men and women," he said, but now that I understand better the American viewpoint, I do not find myself in such disagreement.

* * *

Freedom Impresses.

"The hospitality of the people here has made a deep impression upon me," Polkowski said.

"I am most impressed with the freedom of individuals in the United States. "Here the individual is truly free."

"The thing I have seen so far that disappoints me most is the American's inability to take criticism. While it is true that America is the most rich and the most powerful, and that Americans have a right to speak in superlatives, as they do, they should also learn why America is as she is.

"The danger of failing to understand the reason for the greatness of this nation is to fail to understand that the welfare of it depends ultimately on the general welfare of the world," Polkowski pointed out.

20 MORE VET HOUSING UNITS GET APPROVAL

County to Start Work When Shiloh 4-Unit Project Is Completed.

Richland county commissioners today received priority preference from the Federal Public Housing Authority for construction of the proposed 20-unit emergency veterans' housing in Mansfield.

Charles B. Lawrence, jr., director of the regional FPHA office in Cleveland, forwarded the priority, which makes possible immediate start of construction.

Work on the Mansfield project, however, is not expected to begin until completion of a four-unit model project in Shiloh, in order that the county can establish a definite cost figure.

In Shiloh, the first of two double prefabricated houses for the housing project arrived early this week. Ivon Bauer, Mansfield contractor, is supervising construction.

The units are fabricated by the Legg Lumber company, of Marshall, Mich., and are estimated to cost $3,278 each.

* * *

Cost Is $2,500 each.

The FPHA priority listed the cost of the proposed Mansfield units at $2,500 each and estimates the rental at $30 a month.

The state legislature appropriated $64,149 to the county for the emergency housing plan, and the county commission now has approximately $52,000 remaining in state funds to finance the Mansfield project.

Mayor Glenn Swanger of Shiloh is chairman of the American Legion building committee which is working with the Richland county commissioners on the Shiloh model projects.

Garbage Plant Down To 4-Day Coal Supply

City Applies to SFA for Emergency Allotment of Fuel As Dealers Fill Immediate Need.

The city's sanitation department, which disposes of all garbage in Mansfield, has less than four days' supply of coal.

Al Strachan, sanitation department superintendent, said today that the garbage disposal plant was "down to the last few wheelbarrows yesterday," but the city purchased five tons of coal from a local dealer later in the day.

He explained that it takes one ton of coal to dispose of 10 tons of garbage, and approximately 10 tons of garbage is collected daily in wintertime.

The city has applied to the Solid Fuels administration for an emergency allotment of coal. In the meantime, Strachan said, the city hopes to purchase coal from local dealers "to tide us over."

* * *

OPS Stock Holds Up.

At the Ohio Public Service company office here, Joy Herbert, district manager, said coal stockpiles were "holding up well in the emergency."

"If the strike doesn't last too long, we won't be alarmed over the situation," he said.

Herbert also reported that while the Warren power plant was converting to oil fuel instead of coal, the Melco plant, 13 miles south of Mansfield, could not be converted. The Melco generating plant supplies most of the power of the Mansfield area.

(The Cleveland Electric Illuminating company announced today the gradual conversion of its generating plants to oil fuel.

(Elmer L. Lindseth, president of the CEI, said eventually the oil-burning capacity will be 1,000,000 gallons of oil daily, the equivalent of 6,000 tons of coal.)

RUSSIA ASKS WORLD-WIDE ATOMIC BAN

Soviet Official Says Nation Will Demand Veto Powers On Arms 'Inspection.'

LAKE SUCCESS —(INS)— A Soviet demand that disarmament must start with a world-wide ban on the manufacture of the atomic bomb was placed today before the United Nations political and security committee for debate.

It was considered a grave barrier to any global disarmament plan.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Russian vice-foreign minister posed the question to the committee with a statement that any system of inspection of arms must operate under the security council of the United Nations. Russia and other members of the Big Five have veto powers in the security council deliberations.

Vishinsky told the committee that Russia was determined to retain its veto right in the operation of any "inspection" group.

Vishinsky's statement followed an announcement the day before by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov that the Soviet accepted "in principle" the "inspection and control" proposals for world disarmament. It was pointed out at the time of Molotov's statement that the Soviet definition of "inspection and control" might differ from that of the western nations.

Praises Red Formula.

Vishinsky said the atomic bomb is a " word of damocles" and added "adopt our formula and there can be no disagreement."

Senator Tom Connally of the United States spoke before Vishinsky addressed the committee. He opposed placing the U. N. atomic energy commission under the security council where any member of the Big Five could nullify its decisions by exercise of its veto power. He said:

"The jurisdiction and authority of the commission with respect to atomic energy need not and must not be impaired."

It was pointed out that under the Russian plan any "inspection" of arms or weapons in Russia would be done by Russians who would report to the security council. The American and British plans call for international teams of experts to make real inspections of all countries.

Contract Terms Set Penalties

Lewis Digs In for Finish Court Fight After Early Setback.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Striking miners faced a threat of fines running into millions of dollars today as John L. Lewis, whacked by a major legal setback, dug in for a finish court fight with the United States government.

The walkout went into the tenth day and attorneys for Uncle Sam and the United Mine Workers' chief charted strategy for resumption of Lewis' contempt of court trial Monday while these developments tumbled into the many-sided national crisis:

1. Soft coal operators reported that a "very considerable number" of mining companies had filed applications with the government to fine miners $1 to $2 a day for each day they stay on strike.

2. Rebuked by some of his colleagues for expressing eagerness to resume negotiations with Lewis, Edward R. Burke, president of the Southern Coal Producers association, scheduled a meeting of his board of directors Monday to determine his group's position.

3. Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) urged President Truman to call for volunteers to operate the coal mines, should the miners fail to return to work after a suggested appeal by Mr. Truman.

4. As a direct result of the coal tie-up, upwards of 95,000 persons were out of work in related industries and an additional 175,000 have been furloughed until Monday to conserve fuel.

The prospect of fines against Lewis' 400,000 striking miners stems from terms of his contract with the government—the agreement Lewis has declared void and which the government holds is still in effect.

* * *

Amounts Vary.

The pact provides that fines can vary from $1 to $2 a day, depending upon the producing area. Thus if all the coal companies involved in the current strike should file applications for fines—and the government should assess the full penalty for the 10 days of their walkout—the total assessment to date would range between $4,000,000 and $8,000,000.

A spokesman for the Federal Coal Mines Administration had this to say:

"We would have to consider each company's application separately, on the circumstances and facts involved in each case."

Burke disclosed that a "very considerable number of coal companies" have filed applications for fines.

Few GOP Congressmen Survive New Deal Era

WASHINGTON—(INS)—When the GOP-controlled 80th congress convenes Jan. 3, only a handful of Republican members will be present who managed to survive the New Deal which Franklin D. Roosevelt inaugurated in 1933.

Fourteen years ago, 152 Republicans sat in silence as jubilant Democrats organized both houses of congress. Of this number, only 26 remain. Three of them are in the senate—Vandenberg of Mich., White of Maine and Capper of Kans. — the remainder in the house, led by Rep. Martin of Mass., who will become speaker.

A survey by International News Service disclosed also today that few of the 370 jubilant Democrats who helped organize the 73rd congress have survived the intervening years. Only 55 are left, 41 in the house, 14 in the senate.

Of the 532 members sworn in on March 9, 1933 (there were three vacancies then in the house), only 64 are still in congress. Many have died, others have been defeated at the polls, still others have retired. Some have gone on to new fame. Two—Ex-Rep. Fred M. Vinson and Ex-Sen. Hugo L. Black—have been elevated to the U. S. Supreme Court, another Ex-Sen. James F. Byrnes is secretary of state; and to still a fourth, Ex-Rep. T. Alan Goldsborough, fell the task of hearing the government's case against John L. Lewis in the current coal crisis.

Few of the New Dealers who helped enact for FDR the major reform legislation of 1933 will be present in the 80th congress, probably not more than 15. It is questionable whether more than 50 bona fide New Dealers will remain in both the house and senate next January.

For the 26 Republicans who managed to hold out during the 14 years in which the GOP wandered in the wilderness, there will be many honors.

ALEMAN TO BECOME MEXICAN PRESIDENT

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Miguel Aleman, whose platform stresses industrialization based mainly on private initiative, will become the first civilian president in Mexico's history tomorrow.

The 43-year-old ex-lawyer, the nation's second youngest chief executive, will be inaugurated at noon in Mexico's cultural center, the white marble Palacio de Belles Artes, in the presence of outgoing President Manuel Avila Camacho and some 3,000 other persons.

Aleman, in politics only 16 years, defeated three opponents last July 7 in what Mexicans termed the first national election in which votes really were counted. The Mexican president serves six years at a yearly salary and expenses totaling $24,216.

Hunter Wins Top Hard Luck Honors

BELMONT, N. Y. —(AP)— Kenneth Myers of Buffalo, out deer hunting, spotted a buck a short distance away. He fired twice and the animal fell, wounded. Closing in for the kill, Myers fell into a hole, dropped his gun.

A moment later another hunter appeared, killed the deer and carried it off. Myers, deerless, suffered a fractured ankle in the fall.

YW SETS RECORD FOR MEMBERS

A total of 1,527 members joined the YWCA in the recent membership campaign, Mrs. Herbert Carter, chairman of the membership committee, disclosed today.

This is the largest membership in the history of the Mansfield YWCA, Mrs. Carter said.

Of this number, 1,093 are adult memberships and 434 student memberships. Of the 1,093 on the adult roster, 330 are employed persons and 760 are housewives. The 1,527 memberships include 836 renewals and 157 new members.

Mrs. Robert J. Horn was co-chairman of the campaign in which 100 Mansfield women volunteered their services in soliciting memberships.

OHIO SCHOOL BURNS

SPRINGFIELD —(AP)— The eight-room elementary school at nearby Lawrenceville was destroyed by fire last night with loss estimated by H. O. Jenkins of the school board at $70,000. A community bucket brigade, assisted by a neighboring fire company, fought the blaze four hours.

Duke's Going To Buy Rail Stock, Maybe

CLEVELAND — (UP) — The Cleveland Press said today it was intimated that the Duke of Windsor will use part of his large private fortune to join Robert R. Young, chairman of the Alleghany corporation, in buying into the New York Central railroad.

Rumors have been current for weeks that the duke would figure in the vast financial deal through which Young is reported to be aiming at complete control of the NYC.

The duke and duchess now are house guests of the Youngs at their palatial estate, Fairholme, Newport, R. I. The Press said the royal couple was expected to come to Cleveland Dec. 17 when Young attends a directors' meeting and addresses the Cleveland Advertising club.

Last year the duke spent two days as a guest of Young explaining he was in Cleveland to "study American business methods." At that time he attended a board meeting of the Chesapeake & Ohio railway, of which Young is chairman.

One rumor said the duke may establish a part-time residence in a Cleveland suburb.

BUS, CAR CRASH IN RIVER TUNNEL

DETROIT — (UP) — Scores of passengers were recovering today from minor injuries suffered when the bus in which they were riding through an underwater tunnel between Detroit and Windsor, Ont., was struck head-on by a car whose driver was killed in the collision.

Police said Ferdinand A. Rosenberger, 51, Detroit, enroute from Windsor, sought illegally to pass a car in the narrow two-lane passageway. His car burst into the left front corner of the loaded bus headed from Windsor.

The crash tied up the peak dinner hour traffic for more than 30 minutes but only one of the 70 passengers was seriously hurt.

ROXAS REVEALS PACT ON BASES

CAMP O'DONNELL, Luzon, P. I. — (AP) — Philippine President Manuel Roxas declared today in a national heroes' day address that an agreement had been reached permitting the United States to establish bases in the islands for mutual defense.

Speaking to the United States army's reformed division of the Philippine Scouts, Roxas said "we have an agreement with the United States permitting her to establish bases here for the mutual defense of our two countries."

No other announcement, either in Manila or Washington, has yet been made that the final agreement over the establishment of bases has been reached by the two governments.

The president declared that the Filipino Scouts, who were virtually wiped out in the Bataan campaign and since reestablished as the United States 12th (Caribou) division, "will be used chiefly to man these bases."

Roxas told the troops that at the next session of the Philippine congress he would recommend an amendment to the Philippine citizenship. He termed it "unfortunate" that the present laws withdraws the right of citizenship from a Filipino who has joined the United States army.

Every Filipino who joined the crack Scouts division, the president said, did so knowing he was serving the best interests of his own people and nation.

"Our special relationship with the United States and the purpose for which the Scouts were organized fully justifies that conviction," he added.

Canada Ends War Control of Wages

QUEBEC—(UP)—Canada's wartime controls on wages and salaries will be lifted at midnight tonight, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King announced today.

King said increasing production had eliminated the necessity of controlling wages and salaries to fight inflation.

COURT CONVICTS NAZI OFFICERS

ROME—(UP)—Nazi Col. Gen. Eberhard von Mackensen and Lt. Gen. Kurt Maeltzer were convicted of war criminality today in the Ardeatine Caves massacre of 335 Romans in reprisal for the killing of 32 Germans here two years ago.

They were sentenced to die before a firing squad.

A British military tribunal brought in a verdict of guilty soon after it received the case. The trial closed with black veiled widows of the massacre victims crying "death" and hang them."

Most of the screaming, hysterical women were relatives of those who died in the massacre.

The two German commanders were charged with carrying out Adolf Hitler's order for reprisal killingc after 32 German soldiers were killed by a partisan-thrown bomb in March, 1944. Both of the Nazi generals pleaded innocent.

Mud Stalls Autos; Folks Take Lumber

Richland county sheriff's officers today had been called to investigate a report of the theft of new lumber. The complaint was made by Walter McDonald, Ashland road, who told deputies that people had been carrying off lumber to get their cars out of mud, when stuck.

DEPARTMENT STORE FIRE LOSS HEAVY

DALLAS, Tex. —(AP)— A $500,000-plus basement fire today practically wiped out the reserve stocks of Dallas' famed Neiman Marcus department store, one of the nation's fashion centers.

The stubborn, furnace-hot blaze sent billowing clouds of destructive smoke throughout the five-story building, smartly decorated for the Christmas season, and Store Manager Robert A. Ross said: "We can't begin to really estimate what this has cost us."

December's First Sunday to Be Warm

One of Mansfield's mildest Novembers on record was preparing today to make a mild and pleasant exit.

And the weatherman, just to prove what an inoffensive fellow he is, predicted that December's first Sunday would be warm, with temperatures in the 60's.

The official forecast was considerable cloudiness and warmer tomorrow. The high yesterday at Hayesville was 43 degrees, while the low this morning was 20.

Tags of Danger On Christmas Trees

In an accelerated move toward holiday fire prevention, the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce announced today that it would provide tags of fire prevention rules for every Christmas tree sold in Mansfield.

The tags will be part of the year-round program of the fire prevention committe of the chamber, Joseph Prewitt, assistant manager of that body, said.

Large tree dealers will receive their tags from the chamber directly; individual grocers will be given the tags through the Retail Grocers' association.

Chairman of the chamber's fire prevention committee is W. G. Schultz, who has also served as general chairman for the city's fire prevention week, held the past two years.

"Every large dealer who sells trees in the city has reported a greater demand for trees this year," Prewitt said. "With more trees sold in the city, the fire hazard in every home is greater. That is principally why the Chamber of Commerce is issuing the tags this year.

"Every year, from a few days before Christmas to a few weeks after New Year's, a plague of fires rages over the country," he added. "Most of these fires are a result of carelessness, which in many cases, involves loss of life and thousands of dollars in property."

The tags, which are headed "Make This a Fire-Safe Christmas," contain these rules:

1. Place your tree in a substantial base which cannot be easily tipped over and which will permit a deep pan of water beneath.
2. Secure the tree against accidental tipping by attaching invisible guy wires to walls or ceilings.
3. Use only electric lights with cords in good condition. An electric short circut can start the tree burning. Never use candle lights on the tree.
4. When you smoke, stay away from the tree.
5. Use glass wool or asbestos "snow" instead of cotton for decoration.
6. Remove your gift wrappings as soon as possible and burn them in an incinerator or wire basket in a safe place outdoors.
7. Dispose of the tree by Jan. 2 by burning small pieces at a time outdoors.
8. Never burn Christmas trees in your fireplace.

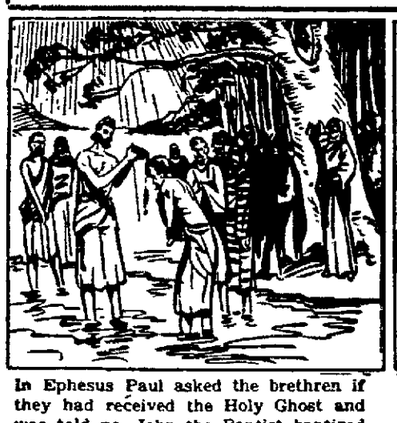
"THE PURPOSE OF THE CHURCH"

A Letter on Christian Living — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 19:1-20:1; Ephesians.



In Ephesus Paul asked the brethren if they had received the Holy Ghost and was told no. John the Baptist baptized them. Paul baptized them in the name of Jesus Christ and the Holy Ghost fell upon them.

In Ephesus God performed miracles by the hands of Paul, so that "from his body were brought handkerchiefs or aprons, and the diseases departed from them, and the evil spirits went out of them."

Demetrius, a silversmith who made silver shrines for Diana, complained to his fellow workers that these Christians were taking away their business because they preached Jesus and not Diana, whose silver statues the men made

Sons of Sceva, chief of the priests, tried to exorcise spirits from those possessed, in the name of "Jesus whom Paul preacheth." The possessed man leaped on them and beat them.

MEMORY VERSE—Ephesus 4:32.

Barclay on Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

Nobody except the extremely thoughtful cardsman does thorough reading of the opponents' hands during the bidding. His inferences regarding the things not said are as important as his interpretation of audible messages. When one member of the opposition, for instance, bids so as to indicate appreciable lagth in a certain suit, the cardul reader will place the probable length of other suits with the other opponent, and then act upon it.

There you have the bidding at two tables of a team-of-four match. It was identical to the point of East's 3-Clubs. South's 3-Diamonds resulted then in putting North at Table 2 in a position where he could not risk a spade bid, since South might have only four of the suit. He could safely rebid his hearts, however, to show he had more of them than diamonds. Either 4-Hearts or 5-Diamonds could be set, with the loss in the heart contract of one trick each in the black suits and two in hearts, and in the diamond game of a trick in each side suit.

At the first table, however, North had a chance for pretty thinking, after his partner had rebid the spades. Normally a heart rebid would have been sounder for North, but he did this thinking: West having bid clubs, probably has more of them than East, who therefore may have the predominant length in any other suit; if so, he would get last whack, at hearts, whereas in spades, South will get last whack at East's cards. His deductions proved right, as only one trump trick had to be lost in Spades, plus a club and a heart. So that contract was made, winning the deal for his team.

TRAFFIC DEATHS MOUNT

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(UP)— As automobile registrations soared to an all-time high in California, the department of motor vehicles revealed that the accident death toll may mount to 5,000 this year. During the first six months of the year 24,723 persons were killed or injured in motor accidents.

SPEAKS SUNDAY—Rev. W. G. Weston, evangelist, will begin a two-week evangelistic crusade at the Grace Gospel church, Sunday at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Weston will be accompanied by his son, William, who will direct choir and congregational music for the services. The pastor, Rev. James E. Davey will preside at the meeting.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, December 1.

SUNDAY'S horoscope is rich with promise by way of reward for honest efforts and good and faithful service rendered. It is a most propitious time for reaping rich returns and recognition with the affairs reaching fruition on a firm and enduring basis. It is advisable, however, not to accept such emoluments with overmuch elation, but to keep sight of benefits to health, family and obligations. Also do nothing to give offense to superiors or friends.

Those whose birthday it is are justified in experiencing a time of rich rewards for honest endeavors, fidelity and excellent performance in service, employment and possibly high station. It may be the time for cashing in on worthy past performances with laurels of lasting and enduring worth. But it might be well to accept such culminations with modesty and appreciation, and to be careful in all relations with benefactors. Also take care of the health and that of the family. Work firmly for tangible results and long-term security.

Women buy twice as many gifts as men.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

Broadway Bulletin Board — Marlene Dietrich arrives in Gotham this week. Reporters might query her on the rumor that her new romance is a high-ranking military man . . . The FBI has entered the case of the local youth who has been posing—in the nightclubs, chiefly — as West Point's all-America quarterback, Arnold Tucker . . .Joe Louis, after a brief spell of torching for Moune, the French singer, is buying baubles for Pat Rainy, a Boston girl . . . Ann Corio's feud with Producer Pfeifer of "Maid In the Ozarks" has reached the cheek-slapping stage. She didn't like something he said about her. . . . Friends believe Lady Thelma Furness, Gloria Vanderbilt's twin, and Edmund Lowe, the screen actor, are ready to name the date. They've been a duet for ages . . . The narcotic squad has been checking on several midtown hotspots during the past few nights . . . Ann Rutherford and David May, who separated recently, are slated to kiss and make up before Christmas . . . A famous crooner and an almost equally famous Goldwyn girl are a secret love.

* * *

George Bernard Shaw has expressed—to friends in England—a desire to visit New York within the next several months. Wealthy Ed Luckenbach's newest pash is Jean Harris, a pretty blond dancer in "If the Shoe Fits." . . . Ginger Rogers is wearing an ermine hat and ermine trench coat to Manhattan cocktail parties . . . A youthful playwright named Hoyt Adkins is about to lay siege to Broadway with a play he describes as "three times more effective than "The Voice of the Turtle" which has three characters." The Adkins masterpiece has NO characters at all! (It's done with stage lighting and off-stage voices) . . . Artie Shaw is expected to have his book finished early next year. Naturally his bride, Kathleen Winsor, is reported helping him with it . . . Glenda Farrell and Arlene Francis are plotting to open a chic interior decorating establishment late this winter.

* * *

Eddy Duchin, whose consistent dates with mature lasses are a legend in his set, has finally succumbed to the charms of an 18-year-old — Betty Bigelow . . . Sally Rand may give it all up to open a model agency. . . .The current cold snap is causing a large section of Broadway's chorus girl population to say "yes" to offers of jobs in the Florida night spots . . . Dorothy Shay, who sings hillbilly songs, has just ordered a $1,000 lace gown to sing them in! A process-server handed papers to the entire Stan Kenton band in the wings of the Paramount Friday. A promoter is suing Kenton and the musicians for $12,000 for canceling a one-nighter in Syracuse so they could make the Paramount engagement.

The hotel situation has eased up considerably . . . Charles MacArthur is at work on a new play—solo . . . As if N. Y. night spot owners didn't have a big enough headache, the bartenders are about to demand a 10 per cent raise. They'll strike if it doesn't go through before New Year's Eve . . . Today's teaser: A hot-as-a-firecracker box office attraction who caused a furore in Hollywood not long ago when he housed his wife and ex-wife under one roof, is now on the verge of leaving wife No. 2 for an actress who recently separated from her equally-famous hunk of box-office gold.

Spirited Bidding Marks Sheriff's Sale

Winchell On Broadway

BROADWAY SMALL TALK: Hy Gardner says if swindler Nickel feels like two cents, he's no different from any other nickel. That's all one is worth these days . . . A woman who runs a delicatessen on Madison in the 60s has Russian caviar flown from Moscow. She peddles it at $36 per lb. That means a restaurant would have to charge you at least $5 a teaspoonful to make a profit . . . Neal Lang, the new manager at the Roney-Plaza hotel, Miami Beach, has its capacity, already . . . Wesley Bailey (ass't to Henry Luce) has quit to become director of adv. and publicity for the luxurious Boca Raton Club, Fla. . . . Radio City Music's Hall's singing choir (non-union) would appreciate a raise. They get $45 per 7-day week (28 shows). Lowest paid singing chorus in N. Y. C. $1.61 per show!

Midtown Side-Show: The middle-aged woman, impeccably groomed, who enters a midtown bar daily at 5. She orders two Scotches and two Martinis and gulps them down, each with a toast: (1) "To nothing!" (2) "To my first husband!" (3) "To the one I divorced!" (4) "To my love!" Couldn't possibly do it at home—no spectators, no audience . . . John Ringling North, the circus man, reporting the season was its best yet. $6 in N. Y. and $3 on tour. But the Hartford fire cost 4 millions!

The Late Watch: Eddy Duchin is sotto voce in the Irene Selznick obligato—Anatole Litvak being very forte . . . Biggest bookmaking (on 52nd Street) is being conducted in an uppity joynt . . . Ty Power carries a clipping of a movie review which panned him in '39. He loves it—shows it to pals . . . Who's that youthful Yale prof seeing a lot of la belle Truman? . . . Frank Sinatra has asked his sponsor to eliminate those screaming-meemees (booby sox audiences), who ruined his last program. Dinah, Jo Stafford, Como and Bing don't need any phony applause or cheers—why does Frank? . . . Is Pat Di Cicco so lucky that Gussie Moran, the champ, will become his bride soon? . . . Macoco names Gable in his divorce suit, intimates insist, because Gable's name would insure, Macoco of coast to coast publicity . . . A general, now at the Waldorf-Astoria, and Marlegs Dietrich will make news from Phoenix any wedition.

SHOW ATTRACTS NATION'S BEST FARM ANIMALS

47th International Livestock Exposition Opens.

CHICAGO — (INS) — Carefully groomed farm animals, valued at more than five million dollars, were ready for competition today in the 47th International Livestock exposition in the stock yards amphitheater.

The exposition, one of the greatest shows of farm wealth in the world, opens its eight-day program tonight with a record entry list.

A total of 10,490 blooded cattle, sheep, swine and horses was entered for $100,000 in prizes.

Included also in the 20 acres of exhibits were samples of farm products vying for awards in the international hay and grain show.

In addition, commercial exhibits featured a display of 300 cuts of meat.

More than 125,000 persons were expected to see the agricultural panorama representing exhibits from 41 states and three Canadian provinces.

Farm boys and girls entered a record number of animals in the junior live stock feeding contest.

Their ranks were thinned yesterday as stock experts culled the 1,425 junior entries of steers to 350. Those rejected sold for up to $40 a hunderweight.

The junior entries will be watched because nine times the grand champion steer has come from their ranks.

Up and Down The Street

NEED CLOTHING—

Adj. Richard Gutterman of the Volunteers of America, 290 North Main street, today issued an appeal for clothing for a sick World War II veteran's family. He said clothing was needed for three and five-year-old boys, a month-old baby and the children's mother, who needs a dress and coat, both size 20. Adj. Gutterman said the veteran is incapacitated because of a spine ailment. The charity organization's phone number is 4578-6.

'CHRISTMAS DOWN YONDER'

An article in the December issue of a national magazine is of interest to Mansfield friends of Mrs. Mary Preston Lawrence, mother of J. Preston Crews, member of Odell and associates, Mansfield advertising firm. Mrs. Lawrence, daughter of a Georgia planter, writes about a typical Christmas among Georgia's "quality folks" in the Ladies Home Journal. She has titled her article, "Christmas Down Yonder."

SHERMAN HOUSE GRANTED PAPERS

Incorporation papers for the Sherman House, Inc., of Mansfield, were granted yesterday in Columbus, the United Press reported today.

Organizers of the firm were listed as Miriam Bird, M. D. Ward jr. and Dale E. Rose, all of Mansfield. Ward, an attorney with offices in the Richland Trust building, was named as agent.

Rose, a partner in Campbell-Rose and company, Mansfield accountants, said he "represented a client" but had "no comment for publication." He added that he did not know when details might be announced.

Ward, a Mansfield attorney, referred all inquiries to Rose, and said he acted only as an agent in the transaction. He identified Miss Bird as a stenographer in his office.

The United Press dispatch listed the capital stock as 500 shares of no par value.

MISS PAYNE, 50, DIES AT NOON

Miss Mabel Payne, 50, of 51 Wood street, died at noon today at General hospital following a four months' illness.

She leaves a brother, Charles E. Payne of Mansfield; and a sister, Mrs. Hazel Moore, of Akron. Miss Payne, a life-long resident of Mansfield, lived with her niece, Mrs. Wayne Ingle.

The body is at the Wappner funeral home. Funeral arrangements will be announced.

ANNIVERSARY SUPPER

Mansfield Boy Scout Troop 18 will observe the anniversary of their troop with a supper at the Central Methodist church at 6:30 p. m. today. C. E. Wilmoth, scoutmaster will be in charge.

5 PROPERTIES TOP APPRAISAL PRICE $5,150

Real Estate Sold to Settle Estate of the Late Peter Klein.

Spirited bidding at a sheriff's sale in the county courthouse today boosted the sale price of five properties in the south end of the city to $38,400, or $5,150 above the appraisal figure.

Three of the lots contained dwelling houses which figured in the price of the sale.

All properties sold were part of the estate of Peter Klein who died in January 1931. The petition for accounting and partition was filed in Richland county common pleas court Dec. 7, 1945.

Lots 5,706 and 5,707 at 81 Lexington avenue sold together to Willard McNaul, 183 Park avenue east, on his bid of $12,400. F. R. Van Tillburg of 60 Reba avenue bought lot 5710 at 89 Lexington avenue for $7,900 and lot 4727 at 32 Florence avenue for $7,100.

A four-acre parcel of land on Cline avenue sold to the Stuhldreher Floral company on their bid of $11,000.

A vacant lot at the rear of 91 Lexington avenue which had been advertised for sale was not offered at this morning's auction at the direction of the plaintiff's attorney.

Deputy Sheriff P. S. Carroll cried the sale. The plaintiff, Edward J. Klein, was represented by the law firm of Beam and Beam. Attorney for the defendants, Emma Klein, et al, was Leslie K. Wagner.

FALLS FROM WAGON

FREMONT —(AP)— Urban Ziebold, 58, fell from a farm wagon yesterday and was killed.

MRS. MARTIN DIES AT AGE 70

Although in failing health for some time, Mrs. Myrtle A. Martin, 70, of 39 West Second street, died unexpectedly at her home at 5:45 p. m. Friday.

Born in Mansfield, March 19, 1876, Mrs. Martin was a life-long resident of the city. She was a member of the First Christian church.

Surviving are her husband, A. Lanson Martin; one son, Charles S.; a daughter, Mrs. Russell T. Rhodes, all of Mansfield; one brother, Wilbur Loomis, president of Scattergood, Inc., of Mansfield; two sisters, Mrs. M. W. Horton, Hillsdale, Mich.; and Mrs. Jeannette Berry of Marion; and four grandchildren.

Services will be conducted in Finefrock funeral home Monday at 3 p. m. by Rev. Ben F. Hagelbarger, assisted by Rev. Byron Reynolds of Chicago, a nephew. Burial will be in Franklin cemetery.

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD OHIO, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1946

Fastest-moving time in the year is the interval between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Drive carefully tomorrow—the highway traffic toll is already distressingly high for 1946.

Having been through it all before, Roger Babson, the elderly economist, says: "Just as before, conditions will go like this: Higher wages, higher prices, less demand for goods, fewer goods, unemployment, collapse—and then we start all over again."

Plentiful Meat Supply -- Next Year

NOW it is NEXT year that is being looked forward to with the high optimism that, just a year ago, marked approach to 1946.

Forecast by the department of agriculture is that more beef and veal will be available to the people of the United States than at any time in the last 37 years—which carries back to 1909.

There is to be continued scarcity of pork, however, until 1948, when next spring's anticipated big crop of little pigs will be ready for marketing.

Promise is that, as meat supplies come nearer reaching demands, prices SHOULD decline "moderately" from present high levels—but this apparently depends more on general conditions than on the single item of meat, as the price-boosting policy has become so prevalent as to arouse doubt that anything other than an excess of supply over demand will bring a substantial downward trend.

Prediction that the lamb and mutton supply will be short during the coming year is unlikely to be regarded as serious, as this meat classes more as a luxury item than as a necessity and many people could go along happily from one year's end to the next without mutton.

An interesting phase of the increased beef and veal supply is the speed with which this came about after removal of price controls and the fact that "range cattle are now moving into feed lots in record numbers."

What Will Supreme Court Say?

WHATEVER may be accomplished by the present federal court proceedings against John L. Lewis must be recognized as no more than preliminary to later determination of the same issues by the United States Supreme Court, toward which the case is surely headed.

The right to enjoin a labor leader from "doing something against the good of the public" appears perfectly clear in the mind of Federal Judge Goldsborough, before whom Lewis is being tried for contempt of court.

Lewis, through his lawyers, is contending that the Norris-LaGuardia Act forbids any such procedure, and the intricacies of law are revealed by the court's comment to one of Lewis' lawyers: "If you know the exact difference between a civil and criminal contempt, you are the only person in the United States who does."

Meanwhile 400,000 striking miners remain off their jobs—with nothing that will put them back to work except a word from Lewis—not what any judge or even the president of the United States himself may say!

Helen Keller Spreads Inspiration

ON A TOUR that would tax the resources of an unhandicapped person Helen Keller, blind and deaf, made her first airtrip over the Atlantic and has visited London, Paris, Rome, Athens and Germany to learn conditions of the blind in war-torn lands. She has visited with many sightless soldiers and civilians and studied needs in institutions for the blind, many demolished by bombing.

It is a fitting tribute to this remarkable woman that before her return next month, she is to have an audience with Queen Elizabeth, and the chances are that the queen will get more out of that meeting than Miss Keller.

Wherever she went she must have left heartening hope in the afflicted ones of Europe. If she, with her double difficulty, could accomplish so much, they, too, will feel that life holds something for them.

Few 'Big Words' Really Needed

HUGH WALPOLE, university of Chicago professor, firmly opposes the use of "big words," holding that so-called "basic English" can convey most thoughts. The layman hopes lawyers will listen to this, and doctors, too. Technical language is necessary, of course, to express exact and specialized concepts. But one wonders if complex phraseology is not often merely the indication that the idea has not been worked through to ultimate clarity.

Not only in language but in life, simplicity might well be the aim. The person who has shed foggy thinking, and eliminated scattered, useless activities, usually goes far and accomplishes much. Emerson had a phrase for it: "To be simple, is to be great." That also goes for the English language—and for people.

Chess Playing By Mail

THERE are 10,000 postal chess players in this country, according to Jack Straley Battell, editor of the Chess Review. The game is played with pasteboards equipped with slots and pieces, the player moving from slot to slot as his correspondent indicates. Many fans keep several games going at once.

Mr. Battell is currently managing 40 games. William Prewitt of Auburn, Cal., is the champion at this simultaneous game business, confessing to have had 500 going. Players entering these tournaments-by-mail are of all ages. The youngest is ten, and Dr. John Hogan, a dentist of Bedford, Ind., 84, is said to be the oldest participant.

Which goes to show there are "all kinds of people in the world"—and all kinds of pastimes.

One hypercritical reader objects to Walter Lippmann's expression: "brazen mockery"—calling attention to the fact that mockery is "hollow" and that it is effrontery that is "brazen."

WHICH FLAG SHALL BE TOPMOST?

Compulsory Arbitration Seen As Needed In Essential Employment

By RAYMOND MOLEY

JUDGE Goldsborough came close to summarizing the paramount issue when he reminded the Lewis defense lawyer that when society attempted to protect itself against cold, hunger and disintegration, it was engaged in something more vital than a labor dispute.

The weapons used or proposed in John L. Lewis' case illustrate how far government has dissipated its power to protect its own citizens. And this weakness will appear in an enlarged form as the issues now raised approach the Supreme Court.

Suppose, as has been suggested, the government should try to impose receiverships on the UMW and its local and districts.

The collection of fines out of the till will take time, and the public can't wait until the union has been exhausted by daily levies, even levies as large as $200,000 a day.

These look big, but the union can hold out long enough to paralyze the country. It would take a dozen weeks to drain the national treasury of the union and still more weeks to drain the districts and locals. And the union and Lewis would comfortably depend on the Supreme Court to pay the money back.

The miners have refused and will refuse to trust the government to protect them as they go back to work. The union controls their jobs and would expel them for working.

If the government did not see that the managers fired the men who would thus be expelled from the union, Lewis, under the law, would proceed against the government for unfair labor practices.

The government, in the beginning, did the spectacular thing of seizing the mines. Now it may do the spectacular thing of unseizing them. But that would merely continue the crisis. Some employers may give in to Lewis; others will close up. If all employers increase prices, a whole wave of new inflation will come.

In the field of new half-way legislation, the prospect is not good. President Truman's proposal, last spring, for a cooling-off period is no remedy for this sort of situation. Lewis is the master hand at the cooling-off business. He can cool us all off in December.

The government, by a long succession of laws and court decisions, has so weakened itself that it can no longer perform its elementary duty of preventing disaster.

And it has done this by failing to recognize the distinction between strikes that can be endured and those that cannot be endured.

It goes without saying that Lewis would never have approached this contest, if the present court held the views of almost any earlier court in our history. He contends that the Norris-LaGuardia Act does apply to a dispute in which the government is a party; also, that the Smith-Connally Act is unconstitutional. Nothing in the record of the majority of this Supreme Court offers any hope that Lewis' contentions will be denied.

The only answer is legislation so clear and explicit that even the present Supreme Court cannot evade it. The answer is that industries whose continued operation is essential to public safety, health and order should have no strikes. That means compulsory arbitration in specified industries.

Compulsory arbitration does not mean the coming of a fascist state, although such a cry will be raised by the pro-labor chorus. It means that, just as the owners of railroads, utilities and other industries are given the choice of abiding by government regulation or going into some other business, so are employes of essential industries given the choice of regulated employment or other employment. There is no other lasting preventative against such situations as exists today.

Walter Lippmann

Russians Would Be Given Big Advantage.

IT DOES not reflect on the sincerity of Molotov's campaign for the reduction of armaments to say his proposals are designed astutely to strengthen the position of his own country. There need be no doubt he really wants the kind of disarmament he has proposed.

The immediate political advantage to the Soviet Union from the discussion is considerable. For parliament and congress are both reluctant to maintain large military establishments.

And if the proposals are agreed to, the military advantage might be decisive in determining the shape of the world settlement.

The core of the proposal is that the Soviet Union is willing to reduce her "powerful army . . . if powers possessing the largest naval and air forces" will "develop a corresponding activity in the matter of the reduction of armaments" including an agreement to prohibit "the use of atomic energy for military purposes." To enforce these agreements he is willing to have commissions to inspect.

To understand the proposal we must bear in mind the fundamental differences between Russian military power and our own.

The strength of the Red Army is its immense reserves of infantry. The weapons of the Red army are by present standards primitive. They are easy to manufacture. Almost anyone can quickly be taught to use them.

The Red army, moreover, is one that can march on its own feet towards any theater where it might wish to operate.

To reduce the Red army is only to send the troops home. The army can be re-created in a few weeks by calling the troops back. Therefore, because the essential strength of the Soviets is in their man power, not in their technology, "disarmament" is for the Russians only a demobilization.

An army which has merely been demobilized can soon be mobilized again and therefore a reduction of the Red Army is no real reduction in the Soviet military potential.

Our own position is radically different. Our military power depends upon highly specialized personnel operating extremely complicated weapons and machines.

The manufacture of these weapons and machines takes a long time. The training of the men to make them and use them takes a long time. Installations are required to exert our military power across the wide expanse of the oceans; they cannot be improvised quickly.

Therefore, if we stop making our complicated weapons and machines, if we do not maintain the installations to use them, if we do not train the specialists to operate them, we are in fact disarmed. We are not, like the Russians, merely demobilized.

Thus Molotov's proposal is in its essence that the Soviet Union should demobilize and that we should disarm. If this proposal were adopted, the Soviet Union would indeed have every reason to insist upon effective inspection.

For inspection cannot alter the fact that Russian man power can be molilized by a decree calling men to the colors.

But inspection to see to it that we did not maintain and develop our technological advantages would alter radically the balance of power.

The Soviet Union would remain capable of exerting its full strength at short notice and we should be incapable of exerting ours except after years of reconversion and preparation.

Thus in the fateful negotiations which have to be undertaken to achieve a general world settlement, Molotov's proposals would give to the diplomancy of the Soviet Union a decisive superiority of weight and force.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Nov. 30, 1926

Check-up on building permits showed that Mansfield's greatest growth was to west and southwest.

J. A. Lantz sold his interest in Lantz Bros., mill to his brother Harry W. Lantz.

Rotarians heard talk by Harold Lord Varney, of Constitutional Educational League, on "What Mussolini Is Doing for Italy."

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. James F. Crane, 24 Dunbilt Court.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Fraley left for Florida to spend the winter.

James Hoppe returned to Mansfield after having lived in Cleveland a year.

Rev. J. J. Tisdall was speaker at meeting of Richland county Past Chancellors' association, Knights of Pythias, held at Elks grill.

Instrumental selections were presented by pupils of William Kurtz in recital at First Methodist church.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

Mansfield Lock Washer company was organized.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Samuel Langhorne Clemens—"Mark Twain"—beloved author and lecturer, was born in Florida, Missouri, on November 30, 1835. He was the greatest of American literary humorists. His most famous book is "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer."

Daily Bible Thought

They have mouths but they speak not, eyes have they, but they see not.—Psalm 135:16.

Dave Boone Says:

IN AN atmosphere full of petti-fogging, hair-splitting and gnat-straining, it is refreshing to hear from a judge who calls a spade a spade, speaks plainly and never gives baloney an even break. This Judge Goldsborough blows up bunk as fast as he spots it.

* * *

"What you are claiming," he told Joe Padway, an attorney for Lewis, "is that when society itself tries to protect itself from cold, hunger, misery and economic disintegration, it is involved in a mere labor dispute."

* * *

"Whether the Norris-LaGuardia act applies or not, the disregarding of a restraining order is punishable as contempt. Any other way is anarchy," he added.

"Then Mr. Lewis' lawyers should be punished, for he acted on their advice," countered Padway. "The cemeteries are full of people who took the doctor's orders," replied the court.

Gosh, it looks as if there really is a court that puts Uncle Sam back in the picture.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Showdown Battle Is Under Way Between Lewis and Uncle Sam

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A CREEPING paralysis of slowed production, dimned lights and reduced transportation brought home to the man in the street the realties of the latest round in the battle of coal.

Some legal experts sided with labor, united as seldom in recent years, in opposition to the government's attempt to halt the coal strike by injunction. The National Lawyers Guild said it believed the federal district court was without jurisdiction in issuing its restrainer. "The injunction," declared the guild, "is not merely improper but ineffectual in the attempt to settle labor disputes."

An all-out legal test of the rights of John L. Lewis, the United Mine Workers' president, might be drawn out for weeks and months but the strike in all probability would not last that long because of public need.

Creeping Paralysis.

As paralysis spread to coal-burning utilities and industries, the president kept a careful eye on public opinion. The dimout, severe as any in wartime, shaded 21 states. Birmingham Steel in Alabama cut production from 98 to 40 percent. Pittsburgh and Youngstown plants of Carnegie-Illinois Steel began cutting operations 65 percent; U. S. Steel began to lay off thousands.

Railroads, under the ODT curtailment order, began to furlough crews of coal-fired trains. Some schools were forced to close early in the week, many other schools and colleges planned to extend the Thanksgiving holidays until the strike was over.

Federal, state and local government buildings were put on Spartan fuel rations if they ran out and they weren't on the priority list of essential users.

Propose Special Labor Courts.

When the new congress goes to Washington January 3 it may be asked to draft legislation to prevent repetition of such a stalemate. Bi-partisan proposals were made for establishment of special labor courts with compulsory arbitration applying to interstate utilities and basic industries.

"We cannot let one man or group of men stop the economic machinery of the country by the power they exercise in any one basic industry," said Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark). "I have no quarrel with the workers' right to strike in industries where a stoppage has only a local effect or which merely inconveniences the public. The very life of the country is at stake in this coal strike."

At Home

Prefab Problems.

Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt declared that "inaction, temporizing and banking-as-usual" threatened to strangle his program to build prefabricated housing for veterans.

Wyatt made the statement to a senate war investigating subcommittee which called him as witness together with George Allen, RFC director, with whom he is in conflict over RFC lending policies toward housing firms.

Tied in with this dispute is another between Wyatt and the War Assets Administration over whether a $171,000,000 surplus war plant at Chicago should be turned over to the Tucker Motor Co. to make cars or to the Lustron Corporation to make metal housing units. Wyatt's housing agency also is demanding that RFC lend $52,000,000 to Lustron for operating funds.

* * *

Jingle, Jangle, Jingle.

The brownout of shopping districts in 21 states because of the coal shortage may shade but it cannot dim altogether the prospect of the biggest Christmas shopping season on record.

Stores already have the bulk of their holiday gift stocks and the public has unprecedented funds.

A new holiday record would mean retail sales of more than the $8,500,000,000 of last December.

A new holiday record would mean retail sales of more than the $8,500,000,000 of last December.

The department of commerce added a note of caution, however, with its holiday prediction. There is some evidence, the department found, "that the keen edge of demand for non-durable goods has been dulled."

The Christmas tree industry, one non-durable line, is preparing for a record season.

* * *

Heading for White Christmas.

This country's biggest polar expedition already is loading its 13 ships at naval bases in Port Hueneme, Calif., and Norfolk, Va. The expedition, headed by R. Adm. Richard E. Byrd, expects to leave for Little America early next month.

Each ship will be self-sustaining, carrying its own supplies. Two cargo vessels will carry supplies for a base camp. Two big fleet tankers will fuel the ships and aircraft in the Antarctic and get them back home.

Most of the 4,000 men will live aboard ship, with the vessels anchored close inshore, but a 300-man base camp will be established, probably on the Ross Iceshelf. The camp will be primarily for support of air operations.

* * *

Hot Court Battle.

The Georgia crusade to smash corporate entities of the Ku Klux Klan and the Columbians, Inc., an avowed anti-Negro, anti-Jewish organization, before Gov. Ellis Arnall's administration goes out of office in January reached feverish heights.

In Atlanta's Superior Court Dan Duke, state assistant attorney argued for revocation of the K. K. K. charter on the ground that it hardly qualified as a "benevolent or charitable organization."

Governor-elect Eugene Talmadge has announced publicly that he will order the charter revocation suit dropped when he takes office.

* * *

Largst Motors.

Wellinghouse electricians are preparing to build four 65,000 horsepower motors—each as big as a six-room house—for use at Grand Coulee Dam. The electric motors, more than 50 percent larger than the most powerful single alternating current motor now in operation, have been ordered by the federal government.

Each of the new motors will pump 607,000 gallons of water a minute into a reservoir for irrigating semi-arid regions of south-central Washington.

Abroad

Troublesome Trieste.

Day after day, the Big Four council of foreign ministers whittled at the problem of Trieste, strategic port and rail center at the head of the Adriatic and key to the Italian peace treaty. Four full weeks of discussion went by with the ministers making small but real progress.

The progress was so small that at one point, U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes observed that judging by Trieste, all the peace treaties would not be completed before 1950. Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov smiled and remarked he was "more optimistic than that."

Under terms of the Big Four compromise in Paris, Trieste is to be set up as a free state, independent of Yugoslavia in the Moscow sphere and Italy in the Anglo-American orbit.

* * *

Reds Win In France.

The Communist electoral balance sheet is spotty. In Romania Communists chalked up their anticipated victory amid protests within and without the country. In France, they appeared to have strengthened their hold as the leading political party in the Fourth Republic but in Belgium, Uruguay and the Wuerttemberg-Baden section of Germany, Communists ran behind.

On November 10, French Communists won a notable victory by taking 180 of the 618 seats in the lower house of Parliament, the powerful National Assembly. The Movement Republican Populaire (MRP) won 162 and the Socialists 101.

Last Sunday, the Communists repeated their narrow margin in balloting for the electoral college which will meet December 8 to help choose the upper house of Parliament, the Council of the Republic.

Quotes

James Truslow Adams, noted historian: "We shall be wise in going into snug quarters for the next couple of years or so. The next crash will make 1929 look like a piker."

Robert H. Jackson, associate justice of the supreme court and chief prosecutor at the Nazi Nuernberg trials: "I am confident that the masses of Russians do not want another war. But they have become keenly aware of their strength."

In Short

Appointed: By the president, a commission to fix standards of loyalty of federal employes.

Established: By the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, CIO, a $1,000,000 Hillman Foundation to carry on ideals of the late labor leader.

Rioted: Cairo students, in protest at a proposed new Anglo-Egyptian treaty.

Upheld: Unanimously by the Supreme Court, "death sentence" clause in the Public Utilities Holding Act.

Jailed: Dorph Brown, dean of Herzl Junior College in Chicago, 10 days, for attempting to "tip" a baliff $300 in the court where he was seeking a divorce.

Farmer's Diary: "November Evening."

I WALKED north across the hills this evening, almost to the village borders. The sky was overcast, both east and west, with a clear expanse between. The air had that peculiar feel of rain-to-come, and the south wind was balmy and sweet. The odor of leaf mold was distinct, as it rose from the woodland below; one could even detect the ruder smell of rotting fungi, injured by the frost.

All up along the hillside, the soil was moist—soft from the recent rains—unlike the hardness felt four weeks ago. The gopher had piled mounds of raw earth at the mouth of his burrow, right across the hard-beaten path the tractor made last summer.

Surely I knew, the digging had been easier where it was never packed. Perhaps it is much better that animals do not follow strictly the line of human reasoning . . . or there would be thefts, strikes, wars without end and final self destruction. Walt Whitman said it, long ago . . . "I think I could turn and live with animals . . ."

Upon the highest crest of the abandoned ridge field, I turned and felt the full strength of the wind without the shelter of trees. Far across the valley a neighbor's windows were lit by the tints of sunset. Wagons rattled along the narrow valley road from the place where the community husker had just ceased working. A train on the B. and O. whistled at intervals as it came rumbling and clashing its flanged wheels along the ribbon of track. When it had passed, the stillness was broken by crickets chirping about the trunks and empty branches of the western woods.

At first I heard only a few, but sensing the presence of others, I cupped my ears with my hands and stood more alert. The woods rang with a jubilance that sounded like October . . . not in the open field. I put my ear to the ground there, and heard nothing. But an occasional lone grasshopper would flutter and rise on stiff awkward wings, to a goldenrod cane—then fall to his last resting place. A bumblebee, small and ill fed, clung to a spray of white aster, but the zest and joy of summertime was gone. The home of the wild bee is vacant for this season. Those that are left are scattered far and wide about the fields. The soil now is filled with perishing insects that frost will benumb and snow will gently cover.

Only down in the flat, on my homeward trek, where the rill spreads wide every spring, I heard a lone frog. His voice was thin and weak—he sounded bewildered.

New Research In Tetanus Treatment.

LOCKJAW or tetanus is one of the most dreaded of all diseases and justly so. It produces such symptoms as high fever, nervous excitement, muscular spasm, convulsion and, often, death.

Our grandmothers believed that it resulted from stepping on rusty nails, but we know today that rust has nothing to do with it. As a matter of fact, it is caused by a germ called the tetanus bacillus, which lies in soil; hence, nails that have been lying around on the ground long enough to become rusty are quite likely to have picked up a deadly dose of this soil-inhabiting germ.

War wounds are especially likely to become infected with it, as are those caused by fire-crackers.

The Best Protection.

So far, our best protection against lockjaw is in two substances — tetanus antitoxin and tetanus toxoid. Both are made from tetanus germ poison. Toxoid is so treated that it will not harm the human body but will stimulate the blood to set up its own defenses against the germ in the form of antibodies.

Antitoxin is made by repeatedly injecting toxin into a horse. Later on the horse is bled. The blood serum in the horse now contains tetanus antitoxin. Anyone who has received a wound which could possibly be contaminated with tetanus germs should be given an injection of tetanus antitoxin into muscle as soon as possible.

The tetanus toxoid, on the other hand, is used long before the event of an accident—that is, as a long-term precautionary measure. To be effective, it must be used months before injury. Thus, our soldiers are given protective shots of toxoid, not on the eve of battle, but early in their training period. The same thing should be done for children before they start running around outdoors during the summer.

The Latest Research.

The very latest news from the research field gives hope that some day we may have a quicker and even more sure way of dealing with tetanus, so that those who develop it can be cured within a few days.

Just recently, a new chemical, produced by a germ found in manure, has been found which will neutralize or destroy the poison of the tetanus bacillus. Known as clavacin, it must be tried out further before its full value can be established; in any case, it is not freely available at present.

If it proves out, it will give us a double-barreled gun with which to attack the tetanus germ. For penicillin, which works by checking the growth of germs, has already proved helpful in the treatment of tetanus when given in large doses.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you

Bedtime Stories

HAPPY JACK'S LONG JUMP

Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel was in the Old Orchard just poking around. He wasn't looking for anything in particular, just poking around to see if he could find anything desirable that had been overlooked. Poking around is his favorite occupation when he has nothing more important to do. He has found out that it pays. Every now and then he finds a prize of some kind. Poking around is one form of treasure hunting.

He had just climbed a tree near the old stone wall. High up in that tree several small apples still clung. He would go up and have a look at them, see if they were so fast to the twigs that had held them all through the long season from spring until now that they were likely to stay there for a while yet.

He was half way up to the nearest apple when he happened to look over to the old wall. Some one was running along the top, jumping from stone to stone. At first glance he thought it was his small cousin, Striped Chipmunk.

"He should be asleep for the winter by this time. I wonder what is keeping him awake so long," thought Happy Jack.

Just then he got a good view of the small runner on the old wall. He stopped as suddenly as if an icy wind had struck him and frozen him stiff all in an instant. And he felt as cold as if that had happened. It was the chill of fear, fear so great that for a moment or two he couldn't have moved had he tried. Unblinkingly he stared with eyes that bulged with terror. That wasn't his small cousin. That wasn't Striped Chipmunk. It was an enemy whom he and all his relatives feared more than any other enemy in all the Great World. It was Shadow the Weasel.

Had he been seen? Happy Jack didn't know. He hoped he hadn't. Oh how he hoped he hadn't! Now Shadow was sitting up snarling and spitting at Black Pussy, who had come over to the old stone wall as he so often did. Happy Jack dodged in the farther side of a limb and flattened himself against it until from a distance he looked like part of it. Never had he flattened himself more or clung tighter.

Now Shadow had stopped snarling and spitting. He had turned and again was running along the old wall as if he intended to go back to the Green Forest from which he had come. Happy Jack began to breath a little easier. Shadow disappeared in an opening between stones of the old wall. Happy Jack kept his eyes fixed on that opening. Shadow didn't come out. Why was he staying down in there so long? Had he found some one down in there, a Mouse or Striped Chipmunk?

A faint rustle of grass caused him to look down. There, almost at the foot of that very tree, was Shadow the Weasel! Happy Jack had had many frights, dreadful frights, as have all of the small folk of the Green Forest and the Green Meadow, but never had he been more frightened than he was now. Very great fear is called terror, and that was the kind of fear that filled Happy Jack now. He knew instantly that Shadow had seen him and was coming after him. He knew that Shadow could climb, not as well as he himself, but well enough to drive him out of that tree. On the ground that fierce little hunter would almost surely run him down and then—well, it was better not to think about then.

Happy Jack looked about hastily. He really didn't need to, for he knew every tree in the Old Orchard.

Shadow was climbing now. Happy Jack looked down at the ground. It was a long jump down there. He wasn't afraid of that, but he was afraid to be on the ground with Shadow the Weasel after him. Frantically he jumped from branch to branch, dodging about aimlessly. Then, as the relentless little hunter was almost at his heels, he ran out on the limb that reached nearest the next tree, made a mighty leap, caught the slender tip of a limb of the other tree with his paws, hung there for an instant, swinging back and forth, managed to pull himself up a little and reach up for a hold with his hind feet, then righted himself and raced away through the tree tops. It was the longest jump of his life.

College Football Rings Down Regulation Season Today

SPORTS ROUND UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—A story related here from down New Orleans way says Army showed considerable interest in the Sugar Bowl invitation but insisted on the privilege of either picking its own opponent or rejecting any team it considered undesirable. . . . The finger, of course, was pointed at the Southeastern conference and its openly-awarded athletic scholarships. . . .

Seems a lot of Cadets really are interested in going home for the holidays—their only chance—but were willing to forego that because Glenn Davis was so eager to play at Pasadena.

CAROLINA BOUND?

Bishopville, S. C., Doc Blanchard's home town, turned out a pretty good high school football team for a village of 3,000 population this fall. Now Bishopville is planning for a bowl game for its kids and wants Blanchard, Arnold Tucker and Glenn Davis to officiate. . . . Bishopville, incidentally, claims to have a successor to Doc in J. W. Jones, high school tailback, who completed 114 passes in 138 attempts this season.

WEAK END ITEMS.

The Texas Christian U. basketball brochure, just arrived, has the name of "Honest Bill" Rosenblatt, former Brooklyn college and Long Island U. player, carefully crossed off the list. How come? . . . Joe Louis' autobiography, "My Life Story," which isn't to be published here until January, already has begun to appear serially in the London Sunday News.

CADET-MIDDIE CLASSIC TOPS FINAL GAMES

Notre Dame Out to Protect Record Against USC Team.

NEW YORK—(AP)—College football rings down the curtain on the regulation season today with the two leading contenders for the mythical national championship fighting it out right down to the wire.

Exclusive of a mushrooming collection of New Year's day bowl games, today's program of a dozen or so attractive contests headlined by the Army-Navy classic at Philadelphia winds up a campaign that has paid off both in excitement and gate receipts.

While the Army writes finis to its third great year in a row, Notre Dame is out to protect its unbeaten record by entertaining Southern California before an expected 56,000 at South Bend.

Boston College and Holy Cross put on their 43rd annual battle in Beantown before a sellout crowd of 43,000, with the Crusaders looking for a Sugar Bowl bid.

Georgia, with UCLA the only major unbeaten and untied teams in the country, tangles with its traditional rival, once-beaten Georgia Tech. Indications are the winner will get the invitation to act as Sugar Bowl host, with the loser in line for a Cotton Bowl bid.

North Carolina's Southern conference champions, also Sugar Bowl prospects, meet Virginia at Charlottesville. Louisiana State, likewise a bowl possibility, closes against its ancient rival, Tulane.

The Rice Owls, who meet Tennessee in the Orange Bowl, are out to gain a tie for the Southwest conference crown in tangling with Baylor at Houston.

The Pacific coast champion Bruins of UCLA, matched with Illinois for the Rose Bowl, are favored to make it a perfect season in their finale with Nebraska's Cornhuskers who have won five and lost three.

Tennessee, which has not lost to Vanderbilt since 1937, is favored in their annual clash at Nashville.

Miami's Hurricanes handed Detroit's Titans a 21-7 defeat last night in the season's finale for both teams at Miami.

All-Opponent Team Picked By Buckeyes

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Those unpredictable Bucks who wear the football toggery of Ohio State have done it again!

Despite the 58-6 drubbing administered to them by the Michigan Wolverines, the Bucks placed only three Michiganders on their "all-opponents" team, while Northwestern—vanquished by the Bucks 39-27—placed four.

A pair of places went to Purdue, and one each to Wisconsin and Illinois. Minnesota, Missouri, Southern California and Pittsburgh were not represented.

Only unanimous choice was Bob Chappuis, the Toledo, O., spearhead of the Michigan attack who, Buck Coach Paul Bixler said, "broke our back." He received the vote of everyone of the 37 lettermen casting ballots.

The personnel of the team, with votes given in Parenthesis:

Ends: Owens, Illinois (28) and Ford, Michigan, (23).

Tackles: French, Purdue, (25) and Ivy, Northwestern, (18).

Guards: Barwegan, Purdue, (26), and Hirsch, Northwestern, (17).

Center: Negus, Wisconsin (25).

Quarterback: Yerges, Michigan, (23).

Halfbacks: Chappuis, Michigan, (37), and Schwall, Northwestern, (28).

Fullback: Murakowski, Northwestern, (14).

All-Stars Defeat Zollners, 57-54

CHICAGO —(AP)— The College All-Stars, made up mostly of "rookies" in the National Basketball league, regained their mastery in the annual collegiate-professional basketball all-star series last night, defeating the Fort Wayne, Ind Zollners 57-54 in an overtime game.

Cleveland Indians Sign New Baseball Scout.

MOBILE, Ala. — (AP) — Ivy Griffin, manager of the Greenville, (SMC.) team of the South Atlantic league last summer, is now a scout for the Cleveland Indians of the American league.

Rebels Battle Detroit Quint

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The Cleveland Rebels, back on victory road, returned to their home town today for their tangle with the Detroit Falcons tomorrow night.

The Rebels climbed into a third-place tie by virtue of their 87-72 victory over the Huskies last night at Toronto. It was Cleveland's third victory over the Toronto team and gave the Rebels a .500 rating for the season.

Toronto piled up a 20-point lead early in the game but the Rebels closed the gap to eight points at the end of the first period. In the second stanza, the Rebels went on a scoring spree and pulled ahead 48-41, and were not headed thereafter.

Leo Mogus, Cleveland guard, led the Rebel's attack by racking up 20 points to equal Toronto's Ed Sadowski score. Mel Riebe, leading Rebel scorer, added 19 points to run his 10-game total to 181 points.

Snyder Takes Over Reins of Mud Hens

TOLEDO — (UP) — Frank (Pancho) Snyder, one-time New York Giant catcher and coach, today replaced George Detore as manager of the Toledo Mud Hens of the American Association.

Snyder, who broke into professional baseball in 1912 with Flint, Mich., will take over the St. Louis Browns' Number One farm club after two years at the helm of the Birmingham Barons in the Southern Association.

Detore replaced Don Gutteridge near the end of last season when Gutteridge was acquired by the Boston Red Sox.

Battered Men of Navy Looking For Miracle Against Army 11

By OSCAR FRALEY, UP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA—The last team to beat Army hoped to become the first today as the battered man of Navy, often outgunned but never outfought, steam against the crashing Cadets before a capacity crowd of 103,000 at Municipal stadium.

No ship ever faced a rougher gale with the Middies a 30-point underdog in the annual service classic. But the baby tars, collegiate representatives of a fighting fleet, were determined to wind up in glory the most disastrous season in Annapolis gridiron history.

After seven consecutive defeats, the odds were long against them. The Middies beat Army, 13 to 0, in 1943, and since that day the Black and Gold banner of West Point never has been lowered in defeat.

President Truman headed the gala crowd of brass, braid and Uncle Sam's nephews who turned out to witness the spectacle. For; win, lose or draw, they were assured of a bitterly-fought contest as Army's two-time mythical national champions sought to hold at least a tie for the crown.

Unbeaten in 1944 and 1945, the Cadets have won eight this year and played a scoreless tie with Notre Dame. This would be their 27th win in 28 undefeated contests, and nine Cadets playing their final game for Army—including All-Americans Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard—were equally determined that they would close their careers with a smashing triumph over this arch rival.

The entire corps of cadets and middies will march in review before this 47th renewal of the classic which started in 1890. Then they will cheer their respective teams as Army, at full strength, seeks to add to its 24 victories against 19 defeats and three ties in this series.

Findlay Tops Giffin, 67-31.

FINDLAY—(AP)—Findlay College opened its home cage season last night with an easy 67-31 win over Giffin Junior College of Van Wert, O.

Palmer Holds 2 Stroke Lead

ORLANDA, Fla. —(INS)— Contestants in the $10,000 Jaycee open golf tournament in Orlando went into the third round today with Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., leading the field with a nine-under-par card of 133.

Palmer fired a 68 yesterday to go with his 65 of the day before to achieve his leading margin.

Ray Hill of Shreveport, La., held second place with a 135 as he added a 69 to a previous 66, while a 65-72—137 gave Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., third place.

Fourth place featured a triple tie involving Pete Cooper, Gainsville, Fla, Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., and Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va., all with 138.

After taking a 75 on the first day, Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., defending champion, shot red-hot 64 to enter an eight-way tie at 139.

Two Buck Frosh Fight For Starting Berths

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Two freshmen have a good chance of being in Coach Tippy Dye's starting line-up for Ohio State when the Bucks open their basketball season here a week from tonight against Pitt, an opponent they beat twice last year.

The freshmen are Forward Les Pugh, who captained Middletown's 1944 high school champions, and Guard Jim Harris of East Liverpool, the shortest man on the squad at 5 feet, 9 inches.

Other likely starters are Capt. Paul Huston of Xenia, a three-letter winner at guard; Bob Winters, a sophomore and another Xenia Central high school alumnus, at forward; and Jack Underman, a 6-foot, 6-inch junior letter winner from Columbus, at center.

This tentative line-up, in which Harris is the only player under 6 feet, 3 inches, will be supported by Bob Bowen, a two-letter winner from Martins Ferry, and Stuart Jones, Columbus sophomore, at forwards; Jack Pfeiffer, a Toledoan from the 1944-45 varsity, at center; and Wayne Wells of Lima and Dick Campbell of Columbus at guards.

The remaining five players in Dye's select 15 are Jim Wells of Middletown, Bob Raidiger of Waverly and Bob Donham of Hammond, Ind., forwards; Herb Russell of Raymond, guard; and Neil Johnston of Chillicothe, center. Wells and Donham are sophomores and Raidiger, Russell and Johnston are freshmen.

After next week's game at State Fairground coliseum, the Buck cagers will not be home again until the conference lidlifter with Minnesota Jan. 4. In the interval they will make their first trip to the Pacific Coast since 1939, meeting Washington and California in two games each.

First Amateur Show Set for Senior High

First amateur fight show of the Friendly House-40 et 8 1946-47 season will be staged at the Mansfield Senior high school auditorium, Thursday night at 8:15, Mike Wentz, F-H physical director, announced today.

This will make the first time that the auditorium has been utilized for fighting The Friendly House-40 et 8 groups plan to sponsor eight simon-pure shows this season.

Kenny Berry, 135 pound fighter, who boxed in 1945-46 Friendly House-40 et 8 fight shows, will headline the card in a four round match with Charles Glover, 138 pound Fremont pugster.

Reserved tickets for the show are on sale at City News, Terminal Inn, Hunt's News, Fox Jewelry store, Sandy Maxwell's, Ritz Nite club, Saprano Cigar store, East Side Nite club, and Friendly House.

Wentz said the reserved seats would be $1.25.

Los Angeles Loyola 13, Whittier 6.

GENERAL student and alumni rebellion against Frank (Whitey) Wickhorst, right, head coach of the University of California Bears, involving demands for $75 a month pay for the football players, has spread to include demands that General Manager Clint Evans, left, also be removed. The California team had one of the worst seasons on the grid this year, winning only two games. The demand of pay for play was made "so that adequate football material would come to the university." The $75 a month pay would be compensation for the four hours a day players put in for practice.

Los Angeles Rams Hold Key To National Loop Playoff

NEW YORK—(AP)—Although they have missed their chance to repeat as champions of the National Football league, the Los Angeles Rams may take a hand in deciding the 1946 winner when they play the New York Giants, eastern division leaders, here tomorrow.

Washington's Redskins, trailing the Giants by one game in the eastern race, will be host to the Green Bay Packers and the Pittsburgh Steelers, only half a game behind the Redskins, invade Philadelphia to battle the Eagles.

In the only other National league contest scheduled tomorrow, the Chicago Bears, who already have the western division championship for the eighth time, entertain their crosstown rivals, the Chicago Cardinals.

In the All-America conference, where the New York Yankees and Cleveland Browns already have won the division titles and will meet in Cleveland Dec. 22 for the championship, the play this week-end is spread over a five-day span.

The Yankees downed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 21-7, Thursday to start it off. The Chicago Rockets meet the San Francisco 49ers on the latter's field this afternoon.

It will be Buffalo at Los Angeles tomorrow with Cleveland at Miami Monday night.
